DIET

Diet simply refers to the kinds of foods consumed by an individual.

Scientists reveal that our bodies need about 60 nutrients per day for Optimal Health and longevity.

These nutrients are obtained from our diet. However, the unfortunate fact is that our diet, however good it is. Never supply all the necessary food nutrients required by our bodies for optimal health.

NUTRITION

Nutrition is a body of knowledge that deals with. The relationship between diet and states of health and disease. Between the extremes of optimal health and death from starvation or malnutrition, there is an array of disease states that can be caused or alleviated by changes of diet.

Deficiencies, excesses or imbalances in diet can produce negative impacts on health, which may lead to diseases such as blindness, nerve problems, scurvy, obesity, diabetes, hypertension, osteoporosis etc as well as psychological and behavioural problems.

Similarly, excessive intake of elements that have no apparent role in health (e.g. lead, mercury, etc), may inflict toxic and potential lethal effects, depending on the dose.

WHY THE NEED TO SUPPLEMENT YOUR DIET

It's estimated that the world over, only 2-6% of individuals consume a well balanced diet.

Secondly, the foods that we eat lose their nutritional value in many ways, e.g. Genetic Engineering with its emphasis on quantitative rather than quality, together with the rampant consumption of processed products as opposed to fresh supplies, leaves many with major micro-nutrient deficiencies e.g. Iron, zinc. Vitamin etc. these couples with infrequent, haphazard food intake with poor methods of preparation and storage, further emphasize the need for carefully formulated supplements to hormonally and metabolically rejuvenate our bodies.

TRADITIONAL CHINESE MEDICINE (TCM)

UNDERSTANDING TCM:

Traditional Chinese Medicine is a complete medical system that has diagnosed, treated and prevented ailments for over twenty centuries. While it can remedy ailments and change state of mind, Chinese medicine can also enhance recuperative power, immunity and the capacity for pleasure, work and creatively. Within Chinese cosmology, each human is seen as a world in miniature, a garden in which doctor and patient together strive to cultivate health. Every person has a unique terrain to be mapped, a resilient yet sensitive ecology to be maintained. Like a gardener uses irrigation and compost to grow robust plants, the doctor uses Acupuncture, Herbs and Food to recover and sustain health.

Herbs assist the organ networks in the performance of their tasks. Particular herbs enhance the capacity of the heart to propel blood and soothe the mind, the-spleen to manage respiration and body's defences the liver to maintain resilient emotions, metabolic processes and supply limbs and kidneys to sustain soul and regenerative power. Some herbal formulas address ailments such as colds, allergies, inflammations, or craps until effective and immediate results, while others are usually combined in formulas enhance their efficacy. Signs and symptoms are matched with therapeutic effects, reflecting the particular conditions and needs of each patient. Tonic formulas restore eroded body resources and etc. Chinese medicine can protect and preserve our health day by day.

It is often difficult to "sell" people on health. In order to be health it takes commitment, the reward is often difficult to know or feel. It is usually not until the body fails us in some manner that we realize that we have not taken care of it.

Ralph Waldo Emerson said "The first wealth is health".

Products in the Tianshi booklet are of natural origin and are not medicine.
